Kavita
About me...

• Environmental Specialist
Background in environmental economics, policy and science
Interest in the use of technology to guide knowledge creation and policymaking

• Education:
BA in International Relations, Tufts University
Master in Public Policy, Kennedy School of Government, Harvard University

• At the Bank:
Working with Harsh, KIDS and others since 2012
Technical research, analysis and writing; project management; engagement with project teams on issues related to forests and watersheds

Lots of work on EBOOKS

Kavita Macleod
"Disrupting" Development
An Interactive Primer on Disruptive Technology in Development

Table of Contents
Introduction
Acknowledgments
Key Development Challenges
- Environmental
- Economic
- Social
Emerging Disruptive Technologies
- Types of Disruptive Technology
- Examples of Disruptive Technology
- Disruptive Tech in Development
- Retooling Development
- Disrupting our Challenges
- Explore Global Resources at your Fingertips
- Interactive Tech Application Explorer
    - Connectives
Looking Ahead
- Regulatory Environment
- Moving Ahead...
Congo basin Forests-Climate-Water Nexus

An Interactive e-Book

Table of Contents

- Congo Basin Context
  - The Congo Basin Setting
  - Climate
  - Water Resources
  - Forests
- Forest-Climate-Water-Linkage
  - Overview
  - Understanding the Nexus: In Congo Basin
  - Understanding the Nexus: Africa-wide
  - Understanding the Nexus: Global Perspectives
- Opportunities
  - Looking Ahead
  - Climate Finance
  - Technology
  - Institutional capacity & cooperation
- Moving to an Action Plan
  - Information & Analytics
  - Institutions & Policy
  - Investments
  - Towards an Action Plan
- Annex A: Congo Basin Data Portal
- Annex B: Congo Basin Knowledge Portal